

Message From CEO

Under the creative guidance of renowned academic Molla Huq, the Australian Institute of Digital Technology (AIDT) became a registered training organisation (RTO) in Melbourne.

AIDT vocational programs in leadership and management (learning) range from diploma to graduate diploma levels and are developed in conjunction with industry stakeholders to assure the delivery of important skills, capabilities, and knowledge needed in a competitive workplace. To ensure student happiness, AIDT provides extensive student resources as well as a highly qualified and experienced academic team.

Message To Students

The Australian Institute of Digital Technology extends a hearty welcome to all current and prospective students. We are completely dedicated to our students and work hard to help them develop their abilities so that they are prepared for the professional world. We look forward to assisting you on your journey to success by providing new academic and professional options in your chosen field.
