01 Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

All students can apply for Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), which assesses previous education, work, or life experience against the course's competency standards. Students are encouraged to express interest in RPL during enrolment or shortly after induction.

02 Course Credit

AIDT grants course credit for previously completed, certified units of competency. This may reduce your course duration. If granted before your visa, the duration will be shown in your CoE. If granted after, the change will be reported in PRISMS under the ESOS Act. Students must accept it.

03 Work While You Study

Australian student visa holders can work up to 48 hours per fortnight during study periods and full-time during breaks.

For details, visit:
www.studyinaustralia.gov.au/english/live-in-australia/working

04 Healthcare

Australia has a very good healthcare system. All Australians pay a Medicare levy (additional tax) to fund the public health system to ensure that everyone has access to public system doctors, hospitals and other healthcare services.

05 Transport

Australia offers a wide public transport network including trains, buses, trams, ferries, and both national and regional airlines. Cities like Melbourne are divided into travel zones, with ticket prices based on the zones and duration of travel.
For more info, visit: www.ptv.vic.gov.au

06 Diverse Culture

AIDT welcomes students from around the world, embracing cultural diversity as a strength. Here, learning goes beyond skills, it's about people, cultures, and values. Studying alongside others helps you feel at home abroad and appreciate global diversity. By the end of your course, you'll have gained knowledge and friendships to cherish.

07 Accomodation

There is no student accommodation available on-campus at AIDT. However, students may speak to one of our friendly AIDT staff to assist them to find suitable accommodation. When finding accommodation, it is important to consider an environment most comfortable for you, such as staying in the city or in a quiet suburb.

08 BANKING

Australian currency is the only legal tender in the country. Students can exchange foreign money at airports, banks, or major hotels. Travellers' cheques are best in Australian dollars but are accepted in most currencies. It's recommended to open an Australian bank account using your visa and proof of residency.

09 Bringing Family

Most student visas allow you to bring your spouse and dependent children to Australia. You must show you can support them financially, as living costs can be high. Check your specific eligibility on the Home Affairs website.

10 Language

Australian English is easily understood by most English speakers, with only slight accent variations between regions. As you improve, you'll also enjoy learning Australia's unique and often humorous slang.
